With any photo shoot there is always the chance that something will go wrong. While the chances of total or even partial losses these days are slim with the advanced technology that is being used in the photography industry. There's always the chance that the inevitable will occur. Murphy's law.... Errors can be in part of the photographer, processor, equipment failure, etc. We sincerely hope this does not occur and we make every reasonable effort to reduce to possibility of failure.

In the unlikely event of a medical or family emergency that might put us in a situation that we are unable to control and resolve. We will issue either part of a refund for what you have paid that was lost, or an entire refund. If at all possible we will try to reschedule the shoot.

Thank you for allowing us the opportunity to work for you.
